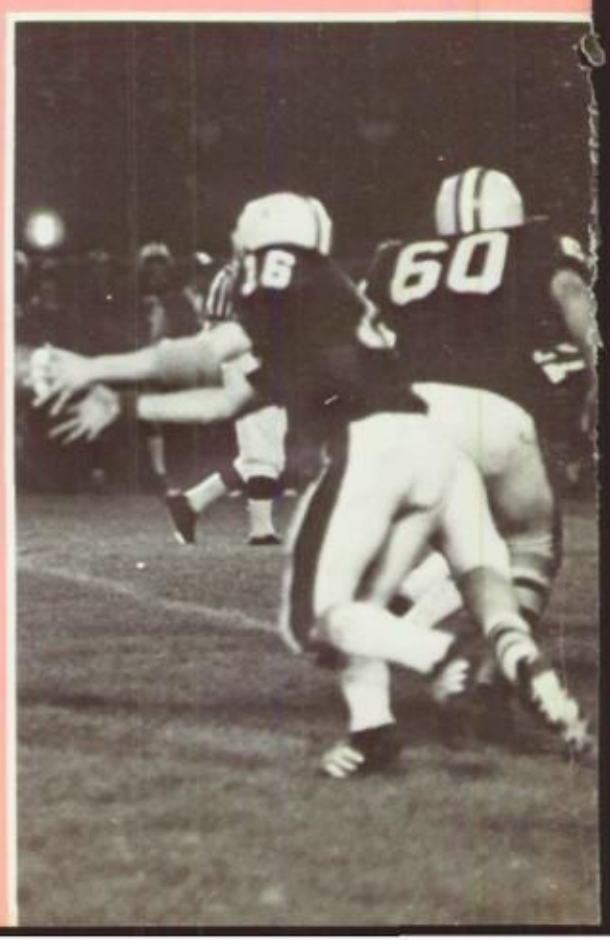
. . . THROUGH THE URSULINIAN"

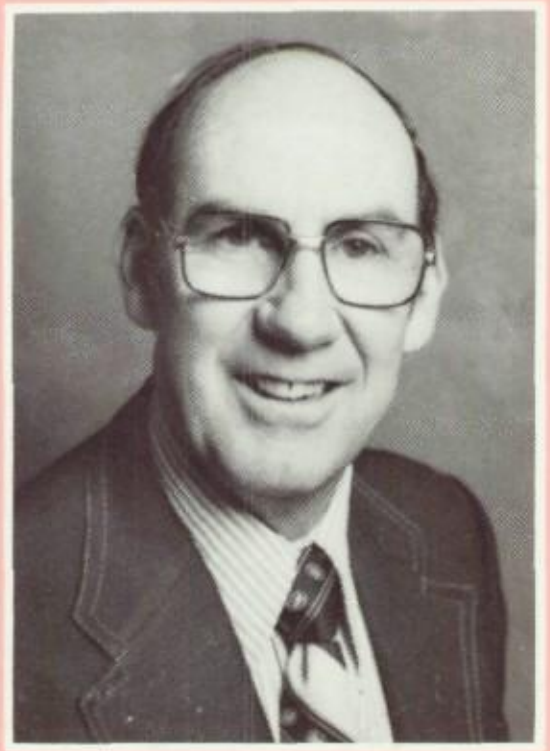
GOOD TIMES AT URSULINE . . .

SPIRIT. . .DRIVE. . . ABILITY These are words so small in size, yet so big in meaning. They pertain to each of us as individuals and represent qualities each of us need if we are to achieve our goals. However, to be effective we must put these qualities into motion and give them life. This is a difficult process and takes much work, perseverence and desire to succeed. But, it is the process we pursued during our time spent at Ursuline High School. We came to realize just how important our high school years were to us, and how spirit, drive and ability can aid us not only through high school, but in our future as well.



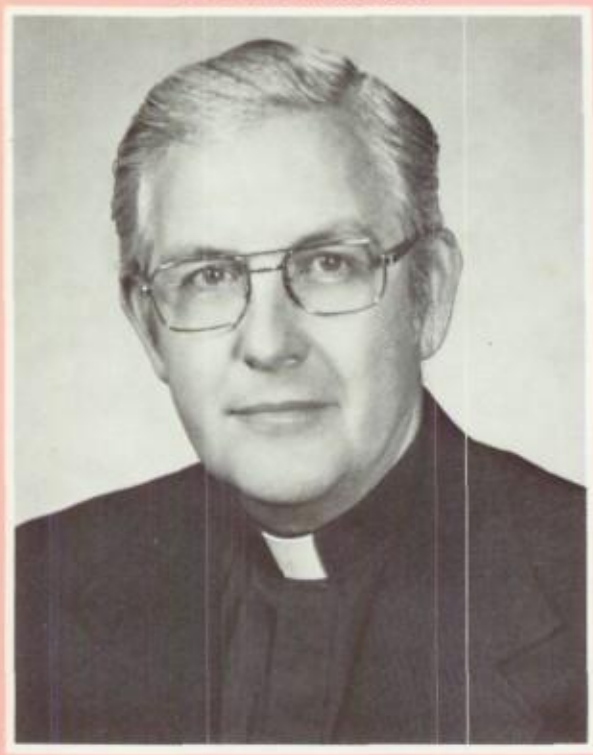
URSULINE'S ADMINISTRATION GUIDES US TO THE FUTURE

Sister Helen Shea
Assistant Principal



Mr. Thomas Carey
Principal

Through the four years our class has been at UHS it was quite evident that our administration has tried to set examples and prove their leadership abilities by furthering our education. They have retained an interest and have played an active part in influencing our ideas and ideals of life and education. They have done their best to see us receive a full education and gave us their undivided attention through their active participation in our school system. Through our struggle to find a meaning to life, they have been there, trying to help us develop our talents and our minds. They have helped us to better understand ourselves and the changing world around us. They have always supported us when we needed them, and backed us up in all we've done. It is for all these reasons combined that we extend our deepest appreciation and well deserved thanks.



Bishop James Malone

Mr. John Augenstein

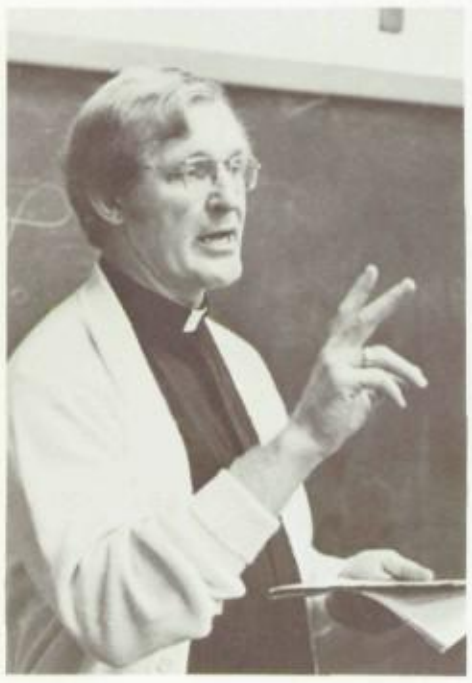
Bishop William A. Hughes

DEDICATED TO . . .

In the past, Ursuline has been known as a school of traditions. This year, the class of '77 has begun another, that of dedicating the yearbook to an outstanding faculty member. In selecting this person, the staff used such criteria as ten years of service to the school and involvement in student activities as well as concern for their educational and personal growth. Respect by the student body concerning personal and professional integrity was yet another criteria.

This year's staff dedicated the 1977 Ursulinian to FATHER WILLIAM PETRUNAK. Father has served Ursuline for the past 11 years. His many capacities have included serving as Dean of Men, his most recent appointment, Senior class adviser, team chaplain for football and basketball as well as teaching various religion courses.



Father Petrunak graduated in 1950 from Struthers High School. He then entered Athenaeum of Ohio Seminary and was ordained May 30, 1959 in the Youngstown Diocese. He came to Ursuline in 1966. Father is currently chaplain for the Oblate Nuns and is involved with Father Kane's Camp.

Affectionately known as "Truk", Father has been friend, counselor and teacher to not only our students but also to their parents. He has given unselfishly of his time and love to the spirit of Ursuline High. We, the class of '77, thank him for his efforts.

To keep abreast of current changes in both Catholic Doctrine and modern and social moral issues, the Religious Education Department incorporated various changes into its curriculum. One of the more recent developments in the area of social awareness was the Service Program.

The purpose of this program was to involve students in community affairs. Students worked with the mentally retarded and physically handicapped children, tutored in the elementary schools, and volunteered at the Leukemia and Easter Seal Centers. Also, each Wednesday was spent at the Windsor Nursing Home offering liturgy to the elderly. Because of these activities and others, Ursuline students were able to give of themselves and bring happiness to others.

One of the busiest places at UHS this past year was the Guidance Department. More students were able to utilize its services due to the many changes which were made.

The Guidance Department was expanded to include three offices, each having its own service area. These areas provided a quiet atmosphere for students to browse through the wealth of information which was made available to them. Career literature and audio-visual aids were also provided, which made gathering information a pleasant and rewarding experience. A tutoring program was developed through which students were able to obtain help in particular subject areas from fellow classmates. As a result of these programs, students were able to increase their awareness of their own potential.

This year, two very important courses were added to the English curriculum; Yearbook and Newspaper Journalism classes.

The Newspaper Staff not only changed its format, but in addition to its eight regular issues, was able to produce three special sports issues, a special "April Fools" issue and a Senior Pictorial issue.

This is the first year the Yearbook staff was given class time to work on the book. During the class, with cooperation and hours of hard work, the yearbook was once again a success.

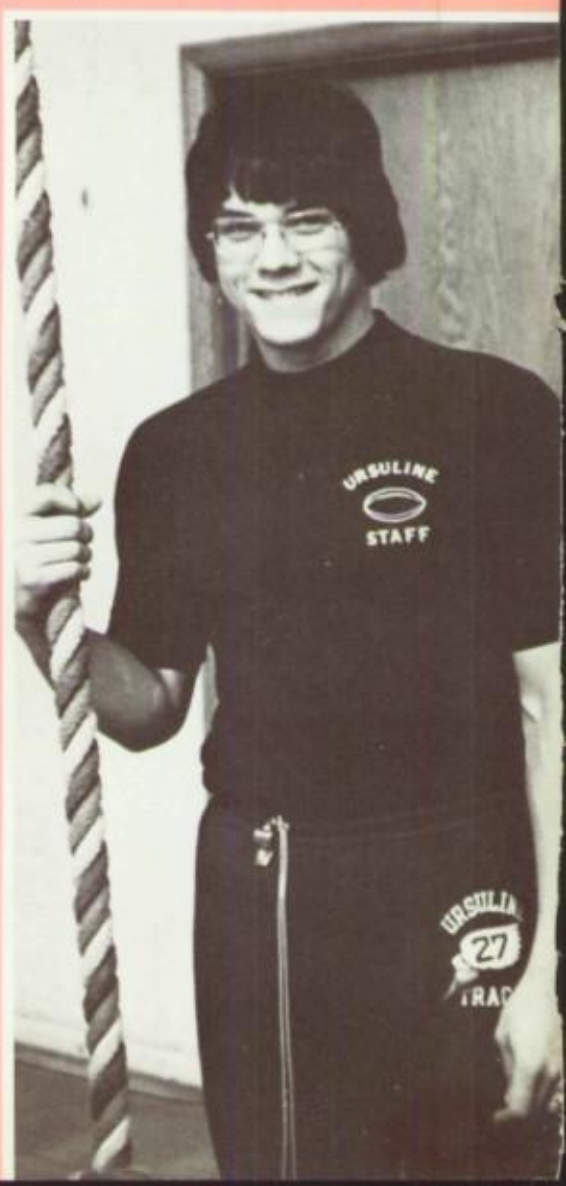
The education of Ursuline's students has always been a many faceted process. Academic subjects were important to increase intellectual and general knowledge, but just as important were physical education classes and athletics for the physical development and coordination of young, active teens.

For the first time ever, students studying health had the priveledge of their own textbooks and the use of reference materials and visual aids purchased with government funds. These were used to help educate students in regards to present day health standards. The Physical Education classes obtained a wide variety of equipment which offered students diversified activities and an opportunity to develop many new skills.



Remember all those delectable aromas and savory smells which floated from the cooking classes? Did you notice they were missing this past year? Due to the extremely cold winter and energy crisis, the Home Economics Department was forced to curtail all cooking labs. Although students were not able to use some of the new cooking equipment, they gained valuable experience in learning to prepare tasty meals without heat.

In spite of this minor problem, the department was updated with the purchase of new sewing machines and microwave ovens. Also, the original chairs used since the school's beginning were replaced by a new, sturdier style. Cooking classes were also offered on a coeducational basis, thus giving the boys a chance to develop their culinary talents and housekeeping skills.

The Business Department at UHS has long had the reputation of turning out many fine secretaries in the business world. The tradition was carried out again this year with great success as the department was enhanced by the purchase of new equipment.

The latest in office machines was purchased through government funds. Our future secretaries were instructed in the use of such machines as the Compositor, Key Punch, MTST automatic typewriter and the electronic calculator.

Students in these classes not only received valuable experience in learning to use these resources, but also provided help to the faculty by mimeographing tests and typing bulletins.

MEMORIES

SPIRIT BURNS DURING MOONEY WEEK

Mooney Week hit Ursuline once again this year, bringing along its usual burst of enthusiasm. It got off to a running start on Saturday, October 23, when countless students arrived at school ready and eager to cover the walls with green and gold streamers, tissue-paper flowers, and spirit boosting posters. This enthusiasm was intensified as the week went on. The seniors kept the students and faculty amused with their cute gimmicks, such as wearing two different shoes and dressing in black to mourn for Mooney. But, it was done in all seriousness.

Finally, Friday, October 29, the eve of the Ursuline-Mooney game, arrived. The rally and bonfire proved, once again, to be a complete success in getting the students, faculty and team "psyched up." We were ready to tackle the world, but unfortunately, we were unable to tackle Mooney! Mooney Week will always remain a tradition at Ursuline, and its memories will forever linger in the hearts of its students.

"I'm a little leprechaun from the land of the Irish."

What burned in our eyes and hearts will always burn in our memories.

"All aboard! The Senior Cannonball is now loading at Gate 77!"

The calm before the storm.

Warmth from our hearts and fire from our spirit.

"Let's put our heads together and come up with a plan."

Ray and Tom take a break from decorating.

MYSTERY PEOPLE AT MASQUERADE

"Don't worry, the superstars will save you in time of danger."

The masquerade was a wipeout.

Monkeying around at masquerade.

Who knew what evil lurked in the deep, dark cafeteria of Ursuline High? Anyone who attended Senior Masquerade, that's who!

For those who did not believe in walking food, the "M and M's" were there and the "McDonalds Gang" showed up and satisfied the "Teething Babies" Big Mac Attack. The "Mafia" had a corner on the scare market since nobody knew what was really in the violin case, but "Goldilocks and the Three Bears" took care of that problem.

The Masquerade gave the seniors a chance to express their innermost selves, and everyone who attended had his fill of cider, doughnuts and fun.

" . . . so we can sleep in studyhall . . ."

Unexpected guests were the talk of the masquerade.

Mama Cronin--looking good!

"Welcome to the party, girls."

"Three of the many couples who were "clowning around" at Varsity '77.

CAROUSEL IS VARSITY THEME

Excitement prevailed as handsome couples arrived for the traditional Varsity dance. The semi-formal event took place the evening of November 20, 1976. The theme "Carousel" was effectively portrayed by the creative efforts of Student Council. The cafeteria was decorated with clowns and balloons while party hats and noisemakers served as table centerpieces. Couples danced to the mellow sounds of "Woodwork" and tried their luck at various games of chance. The carnival atmosphere created a festive and carefree air, and students were inclined to forget reality and become a part of the Carousel dream world.

STUDENTS PARTICIPATING AT MASSES

Food for God's table.

Masses have always been a vital part of Ursuline's activities, whether they be special school functions or daily observances. Besides its religious significance, the mass has held unique educational value here at Ursuline. Such occasions were always special as evidenced at the Thanksgiving Mass, when Bishop Malone honored us with his presence.

Masses were a source of spiritual creativity. They enabled such student organizations as the Folk Group and Mass servers to further serve the school, thus encouraging student involvement.

The unifying impact around which each mass revolved was always evident. Individually we prayed our own special intentions and together we offered our thanks to God.

Christmas Mass servers reflect on the joys of the holiday season.

VALENTINE SWEETHEARTS

Valentine spirit at UHS abounded again this year at the traditional Sweetheart Dance. Musical entertainment for dancing or listening pleasure was provided by the popular rock band, "Island." The highlight of the evening was the crowning of each class sweetheart. The girls were escorted to the stage by a handsome young man as everyone anxiously awaited the announcement of each sweetheart. Each girl received a bouquet of flowers as a remembrance of a truly exciting evening not only for themselves but for all who attended.

Remember the WINTER OF '77; that record-breaking, deep-freeze? Pity the poor souls who were forced to stand on a corner waiting for their bus. If the zero degree weather didn't get them, the 30 below wind chill factor did. And, for those lucky people who drove to school, dead batteries, frozen radiators and fuel-line freeze-up met them in the morning. But, the devastating winter which had a grip on us all seemed to be a mixed blessing. Who can forget the relief and joy after hearing the words, "All schools closed today due to adverse weather conditions?" And happy were the snow buffs who took advantage of their free time to go skiing. For those less adventurous, ice-skating or sled riding proved to be much fun. All in all, the WINTER OF '77 will be remembered as an exciting one at that.

WINTER BLIZZARDS BROUGHT 5 FREE DAYS

Mark demonstrates that winter can be fun.

Bundling up for protection against the elements was a necessity this year.

Due to many early dismissals, the phone was in constant use.

Students rush toward the warmth of a heated bus.

THAT'S ENTERTAINMENT IS

Stambaugh Auditorium became a show palace for the 1977 prom, "That's Entertainment." The auditorium was decorated with posters and films depicting famous movie stars while tables were decorated with yellow tablecloths and silver, glittered star centerpieces. Each arriving couple was announced as they entered through the draped and columned entrance. Couples danced to the mellow sounds of "The Real Thing" and helped themselves to refreshments during breaks. The highlight of the evening was the crowning of the new king and queen. The evening provided an atmosphere of sheer enjoyment and excitement for lasting memories thanks to the junior class.

Their arrival has been announced.

Welcome to the 1977 prom.

Waiting for the big decision.

Couples enjoying the festivities.

Dancing away to lasting memories.

THEME OF 77 PROM

The King and Queen and their court.

The court participates in the royal dance.

Crowning of the King and Queen.

King Mike Pecchia and Queen Diane Pirko.

Two happy, royal smiles.

Paying homage to Conrad Birdie.

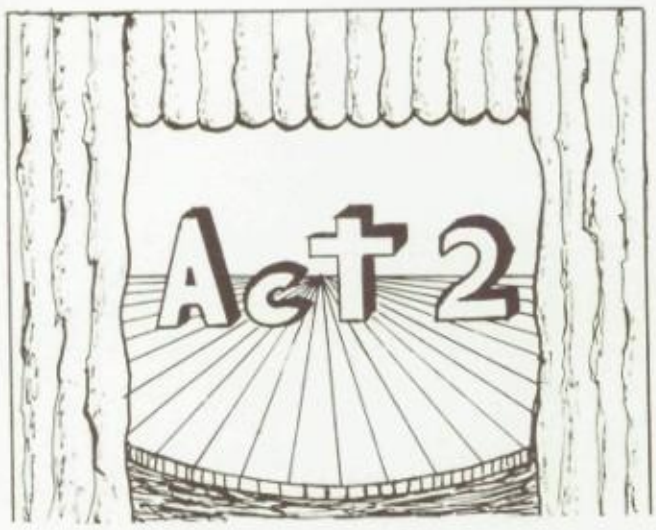
One boy for Kim, that's the way it should be.

To Rosie's disgust, Mama gets her way with Sonnyboy once again.

Nothing excites Conrad, not even the presentation of the key to the city.

These teenagers await the arrival of their idol.

The senior production of "Bye Bye Birdie" was a satire of rock and roll in the fifties. A young music publisher, Albert Peterson, was faced with three urgent problems: first, his secretary, Rosie, who wanted to marry him; second, his domineering mother; third, and most important, Conrad Birdie, a rock and roll singer of immense popularity. Birdie was to be drafted into the Army which meant the collapse of Albert's business. As a result, a "last" civilian kiss was to bestowed on some lucky girl in Sweet Apple, Ohio. Kim MacAfee was chosen, which put the town in a state of excitement. The play concluded on a happy note as Albert got rid of his mother and Conrad and got his girl, Rosie, for keeps.



The grand finale: Well deserved glory for a job well done.

Albert and Conrad, together for the last time.

A confrontation in the MacAfee household.

A night on the town with Conrad and the girls.

Rosie tantalizes the Shriners.

Everything comes up roses for Albert.

Ten

SENIORS

In 1973, we came to UHS as freshmen; eager to learn but also SCARED! But, freshmen turn into sophomores and we were given a week to ourselves as a time of reflection to strengthen our class unity. As juniors we did some square-dancing and got our first chance at being inducted into NHS. Most of all, we looked forward to our senior year. Through the years we have learned and cheered, prayed and grown together. Finally, as a class we have finished our foundation for the future and graduated together. And, through it all, we had the "Spirit" and kept it rollin', kept it rollin' . . . . . .

TODAY

Where have all the children gone?
Just the other day
one hid inside me,
Chewing bubble gum
and blowing bubbles, baking mud pies
on rocks, climbing trees
and skinning knees.
Where did she go?
I lost her in the dark,
and no one seems to have seen her.
I have run through the wet streets at night
calling her name,
but no one answers.
I am lost
without her.
The sun never shines and the moon
never rises,
stars never twinkle.
Tears come and go from my eyes and
I realize she is gone.
I must continue
traveling alone,
by myself,
and I have grown
a bit today,
for I have lost childhood and begun to live as an adult,
Today . . .

As freshmen, sophomores and juniors we let our spirit ignite and the Mooney bonfire raged on. We invested in copy after copy of the "Irish Times " and learned to touch each other's hearts at innumerable celebrations of the liturgy. We developed sight problems by the end of each Dayton test, saw our share of Sweethearts, made locker clean-up a day to remember and increased our spirituality with each retreat. As four years of our lives drew to a close, even the halls of UHS touched us in a new way as they echoed their goodbyes.

URSULINE'S PRICE AND PRIDE . . . that is what Bill Price and Roger Patrick were nicknamed because of the many outstanding accomplishments that they achieved for themselves individually, as well as for the senior class.

Roger was Ursuline's winner in the General Mills Search For Leadership in Family Living test. He scored higher than any other UHS senior who took the exam, and his examination paper was entered in state competition. Roger, ranked first in his class, participated in speech and debate, and was a member of the chess team. He also enjoys piano and basketball, and plans to major in chemistry at college.

Pride's partner, Bill Price, gained much recognition for his talents in creative writing. Many of his poems and short stories, which were first printed in the "Irish Times ", were later published in such magazines as "Notable American Poets", "Best Poets of the 20th Century", "A Different Drummer", and "Free Spirit". Bill attributes his writing ability to his sensitivity for his environment. Also ranked first in his class, he was a member of the speech and debate teams, and participated in many chess tournaments for the UHS team. Bill hopes to study medicine at Youngstown State.

Needless to say, the students of Ursuline were proud to have "Price and Pride" on their side. The best of luck to both Roger and Bill, and may they always be on a winning team.

As seniors, we encountered all of Ursuline's traditions for the final time. However, they took on a special significance, for each time we painted a poster or cheered our Irish athletes on to victory, it was done with an air of finality.

The final culmination of all our laughter, frustration and hard work was achieved at graduation, which will always be remembered not only as the end of our high school days, but as the beginning of our tomorrows.

Hey, this was a real trip.
Sometimes i hated to see you every morning.
Then sometimes i didn't want to leave you every afternoon at 2:30.
For each time i've tried to sneak out your doors
I'll probably try to sneak back in, unnoticed
20 years from now.
Just to recall you--
my Alma Mater.
Days i'd leave you wishing brick would burn
Days i'd leave you with a smile
as wide as the Atlantic.
I suppose if someone really made me think about it despite all your rules and regulations opposing cool people with long hair, i'd say i placed a little spot in my heart for you.
I may even cry a quiet tear--of course when no one's looking.
But i'll keep a mighty space open for your

SPORTS

ON THE GRIDIRON WITH THE FIGHTING IRISH

Dedication and hard work laid the foundation for this year's football season. The coach's job of building a team began in mid-July with physical fitness training. Double sessions were held for those who earned starting positions. Scrimmages followed and before anyone realized it the season had begun.

The Irish began with a victory over New Castle, but met defeat at Niles the following week. Hard work preceded the routing of Campbell Memorial as the team entered Steel Valley competition. The season ended as the Irish were handed four defeats all in the closing moments of the games.

VARSITY CHEERLEADERS R. Dota, D. Valley, C. Stille, A. Bryarly, D. Chizmar, P. Bode, D. DiLallo.

A new sound which echoed UHS spirit was a cheer created by the band this year. As the band played a series of notes, the student body's enthusiastic shout of "We Got Spirit" resounded throughout the gym.

Irish spirit kept on "a-rollin'" as the cheerleaders led the student body with many newly arranged cheers. One which had the most appeal was the famous "Ooh ain't that funky now!"

And, for our viewing pleasure, the danceline combined its talent and poise with the rhythm of the band to make our rallies and half-time shows a swinging success.

"Irish Power! Irish Power!"

TENNIS AND CROSS COUNTRY AT UHS

Tennis is one of the fastest growing sports in the country and its popularity has also found its way to Ursuline. First year coach, Mr. Lou Lowery, did an excellent job of directing the team to a successful season. Special honors this year went to seniors, Jeff Canada and Scott Miller, who were top seated in AAA competition.

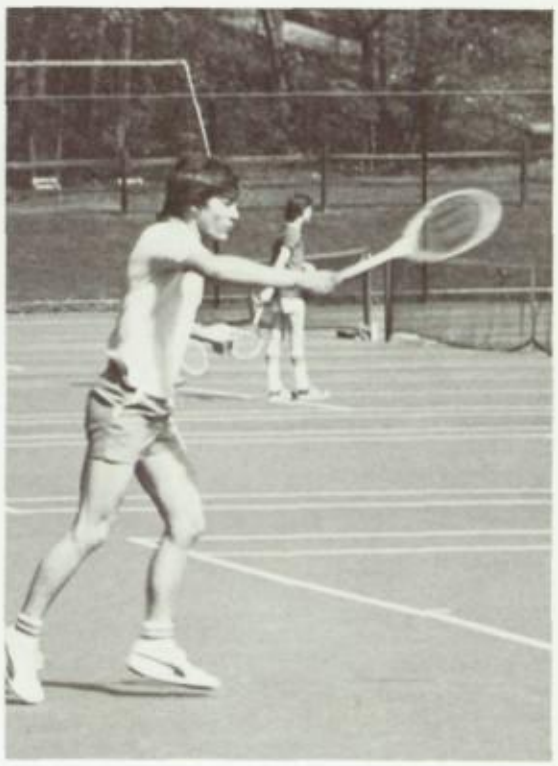
Hard work laid the foundation for this year's cross country team.



"Add in!"

Cross Country has been one sport at Ursuline that became more popular this year. Mr. Bob Jenkins and his team competed in Steel Valley competition in both dual and triangular meets. The cross country courses were laid out in various parks throughout the area. The course was two miles long and tested the athletes' stamina and endurance.

The 1976-77 basketball squad was formed on the dual base of aggressiveness and competition. Under the direction of Mr. Frank Beck, the Irish Cagers entered the season as defending Steel Valley Conference Champions. This year's Steel Valley schedule was filled with upsets and many hard played games which brought surprises to many fans. The Irish kept the winning tradition alive by finishing the season with a 10-8 record. The Irish also placed junior Herb Luckey and senior Jerry Yavorcik on the Vindicator All Steel Valley team.

LINSKMEN CAPTURE SECOND STATE AAA TITLE

The Irish golf team swung its way to a second consecutive AAA state golf title this year, achieving an honor accomplished by few schools. Under the supervision of Coach Anthony Orlando, the team finished its regular season schedule with a 13-1 record, losing only to Boardman. After sweeping the districts the players met stiff competition in the state tournament at Columbus. However, as they became familiar with the Scarlet and Grey Golf Course the Irish went on to win the first place trophy. To conclude the year, Julian Taylor, Pete Prokop and Joe Santagata were named to the Steel Valley All Star Team and the Junior Varsity team under the direction of Russ Nalepa, finished with a 14-0 mark.

TAKE ME OUT

With an optimistic outlook towards the 1977 season the Ursuline baseball team began its schedule with high hopes of capturing the Steel Valley Crown. Under the coaching of Mr. Matt Giambattista the team possessed the potential and desire to become the number one team in Steel Valley competition. As the season progressed the team faced many discouraging defeats, finishing with a 13-11-1 record. At the sectionals the Irish defeated Marlington but in turn were handed a defeat by Fitch. However, in spite of the bad weather, delayed games and many losses the team displayed good sportsmanship in the traditional Irish style.

Through the combined efforts of the Health and Physical Education Department and the various coaches at UHS, a fine and outstanding girls athletic program was developed. Still in its formative years, the girls' program has gained the support of many fans as well as financial support from organizations such as our Booster Club.

State tournaments for the various sports were organized in much the same manner as for boys' sports. Because of the program's success, the girls had the opportunity to participate in golf, tennis, basketball, and track on the varsity level and in the Steel Valley Conference.

Due to stiff competition which the girls encountered, they acquired the qualities of leadership, dedication, character and sportmanship--the necessities of any good sports program.

Irish wrestler assumes an offense position.

Expert coaching and team dedication helped make the 1977 Irish wrestling season a success. Practices involved stamina-building drills to increase the team's endurance for one of the most punishing yet rewarding contact sports. Much time was spent practicing tactics and skills as well as building strength and raising the body's level of tolerance. The wrestlers displayed ascetic discipline in maintaining their weights required to wrestle in their particular classes.

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS T. Hulme, President; M. Kun, Vice-President; C. LaGuardia, Treasurer; R. Dota, Secretary.

The Student Council represented the entire student body. Qualified students were elected to insure critical thinking and creative problem solving. This organization provided an opportunity for the students to express their opinions, assist in the administration of the school and participate in the management of school enterprises. It promoted leadership, initiative and self-control in the student body.

Senior class officers were also members of Student Council and worked closely with the Student Council officers. Duties of these officers were to organize meetings and collect money at the dances. They proved to be competent representatives of the senior class and the entire school.

ROW 5: T. Holcomb, E. Salata, L. Scanlon, M. Sabol, T. Hulme.

The Philosophy Club was unique in that it was created by students for students. A group of interested Seniors expressed a sincere desire to explore some of the more interesting and probing questions about things around them.

Recognizing that the quality of the question is sometimes more important or at least more interesting than the answer, prompted some very interesting "share sessions".

Every Thursday morning, members met in the chapel for Mass and a brief breakfast with fellowship afterwards. It was the perfect outlet for the Senior who wanted to know about things around him that go unnoticed by others.

The primary goal of the Good News Program, which is directed by Father Terry Hazel and Sister Janet Craven, was to religiously educate the handicapped. It also helped the UHS students to become more comfortable around special children.

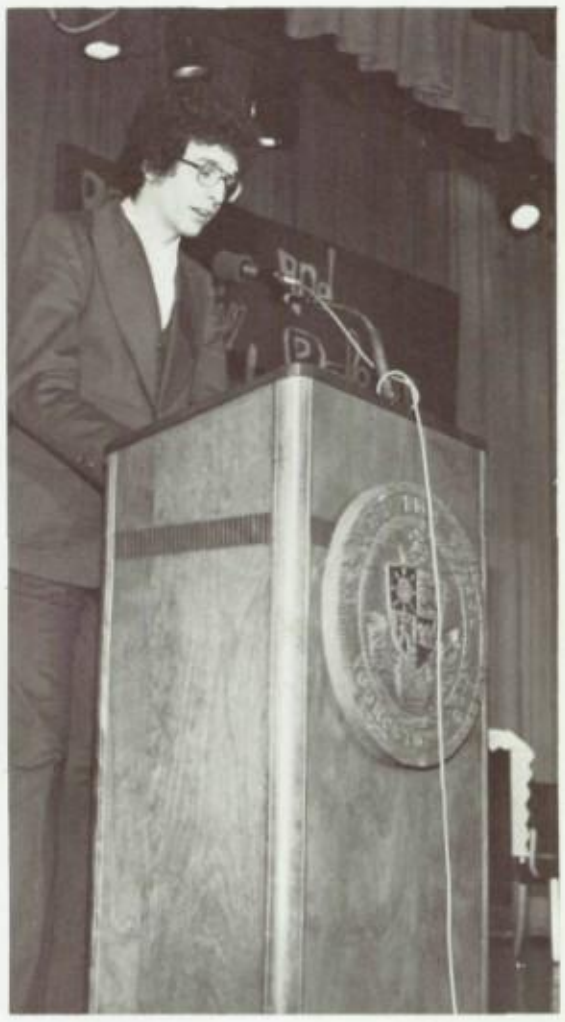
The program consisted of a class which met twice a week plus a Saturday experience. The class met to plan a lesson for the upcoming Saturday. On Saturdays the UHS students and the volunteers met with the children for an hour and a half, dividing themselves into three groups: art, music, and activity.

The students and directors gave much time and effort to plan masses and parties in which the children came together and shared their common interests.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

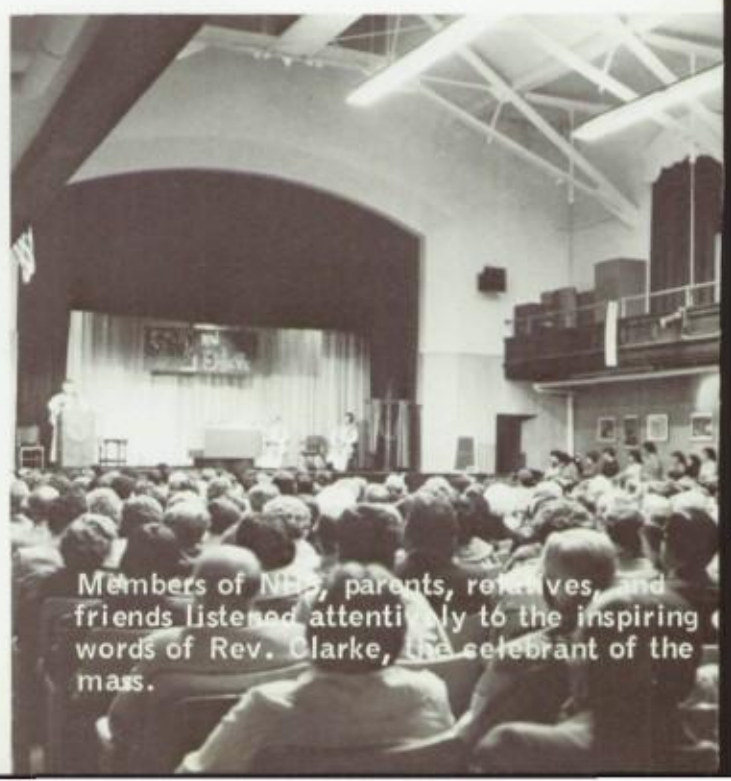
Scholarship . . . Leadership . . . Character . . . Service . . . Each of these words stands alone to represent a goal of excellence which a person may spend his entire life struggling to achieve. Together, they represent the essence of the National Honor Society. Nineteen Seventy-seven marked the 40th year that the UHS chapter of NHS elected members into its exclusive honorary organization. New members were installed on March 26 at a traditional mass and induction ceremony which this year had as its theme "Lead us on." Emphasis was placed on the idea that we all possess the potential for greatness, but are vulnerable in that we must realize that we can only soar to new plateaus with the help of a special kind of guidance. Lead us on . . . into tomorrows, a dream of greatness, to strive to give.

Lisa Flask gave an informative speech on leadership, a quality of the members of NHS.



Jim Byrdy spoke on character, another important aspect of NHS members.

y Beck received co ons and a certificat for outstanding sch rmance.



Members of NH , parents, rel ives, and friends listened attenti ly to the inspiring words of Rev. Clarke, the celebrant of the mass.

Members of the Spanish Club were very involved with the many activities planned throughout the year. At the October Taco party, students were as delighted in making their own tacos as they were in eating them. Also, for many, the sampling of Spanish paella was a first. The thrill of breaking a pinata and singing carols in Spanish was experienced at the Christmas party. The field trip to John Carroll University was of great benefit to many students. They gained much knowledge of Spanish drama through the excellent performances of the Boston Flamenco Ballet and La Tuna. Students also participated in various contests sponsored by area colleges and were judged on pronunciation and oral interpretation.

LANGUAGE CLUBS PROVIDE EXPERIENCE FOREIGN

The highlight of the year for the French Club was the April trip to Montreal. While in Montreal, the students saw the sights and enjoyed the beautiful scenery. Members also had the opportunity to use the language and sample French cuisine.

Most of the club's activities for the year were directed toward the trip. Various fund raisers were held, such as bake sales and a spaghetti dinner at Lamancusa Hall. A Christmas Party full of glitter and good tiding was also held during the holiday season. Everyone caroled and enjoyed the good tidings of the season.

Many activities were on the agenda for this year's German Club, enabling its members to participate more actively than in previous years. Fund raisers, a necessary source of income, included a car wash, bake sale, and candy bar sales. The latter proved to be very appetizing to both buyer and seller.

Christmas was the busiest time for the German Club, as members celebrated by caroling at the Windsor Nursing Home nearby. Afterwards, a party was held at the school; the supply of food and homemade entertainment seemingly endless.

The beginning of Spring was marked by both the club's own Mass, offered entirely in German and by the skit and declamation contests at YSU and Westminster College.

OPPORTUNITY TO CULTURE AND CUSTOMS

LATIN CLUB ROW 1: J. Berroteran, N. McGlothen, M. Sferra. ROW 2: L. Sullivan, L. Brennan, D. Moses.

Because of the relatively small membership of the Latin Club, many of its activities were combined efforts with the German and Italian Clubs. The first major event was a combined club Christmas Party, preceded by caroling in Latin at the Windsor Nursing Home. With Easter almost upon us, Father Gubser agreed to offer a special mass in Latin. It was a rare treat to participate in what was once a common occurrence. The year came to a climax when Latin students participated in the Westminster College skit contest. Their skit offered a tour of various legendary figures in the underworld.

FORENSICS: SPEECH AND DEBATE TEAMS SPEAK OUT

DEBATE B. Price, R. Patrick, G. Bandy.

The goal of the 1976-1977 speech team was to teach students to think, research and analyze as well as write and speak in a better manner. During various local speech tournaments the students were able to develop and expand their expertise in these areas. The speech season began in November and extended through March with two students qualifying for the state tournament; Verna King placed fifth with Terri Ronci earning sixth place.

Roger Patrick and Bill Price led the debate team to many honors in tournaments throughout the area. An impressive fourth place was captured by the debate team in the Copely Tournament. The team then traveled to the Beachwood, Girard and the Girard Sweepstakes receiving second placings in all three tournaments. The team's biggest win was a clinch of the second place spot in the greater Youngstown Area Districts which gained them the right to travel and compete in the Ohio State Debate Tournament held in Athens, Ohio.

Improvement and a better overall book were the two key points stressed in the new Yearbook Journalism class this year. A better quality book was offered through the addition of color, more pages and copy and the inclusion of underclassmen activities. Patron listings were also sold for the first time this year.

The UHS Newspaper staff made this year a successful one for newspaper publishing by changing the format of "The Irish Times", which included a new look and style. In addition to the regular issues of the "Times", special supplemental issues were published, including a commemorative issue about Seniors.

This year also marked the first year the Journalism club attempted to recognize the literary talents of UHS students in a separate Literary Magazine. "Innervisions", as the magazine was titled, highlighted prose and poetry written by Ursuline's aspiring writers.

ART CLUB DISPLAYS STUDENT TALENT

Artistic abilities and a creative imagination took form to produce many spectacular works of art in Sister Alice Marie Morely's Art classes. Study of cave paintings, Greek architecture and works by Pablo Picasso were used to develop cultural aspects of art appreciation. The highlight of the year was the annual UHS art show held in April. Winners were chosen on the basis of originality, creativity and imagination by the judges, Mr. Albert Bright and Mrs. Mary K. D'Isa. The Art Club was also busy with other activities, such as the "Hire the Handicapped" and "Keep Christ in Christmas" poster contests. Competition such as this was welcomed by art students and offered them an opportunity to share their work with others interested in the world of art.

Senior boys interested in being mass servers and commentators had the opportunity to do so this past year. The purpose of this group was to set an example for the acceptance of responsibility and growth of good, moral Christians. These boys carried out their duties during daily mass in the school chapel and at other special masses held throughout the year. Many of these young men also helped serve funeral masses and Sunday masses at the various churches in the area. By serving mass, not only were these young men providing a service for the congregation, but also taking the opportunity to serve God.

PEP CLUB IS IRISH TRAIN OF SPIRIT

The traditional Irish pride and spirit was kept alive this year by the Pep Club. The Pep Club undertook such activities as making signs for different athletic events and making badges to support the mighty Irish in all sports. They also decorated the players' lockers and houses to help them get "psyched" for the games. Money earned through bake sales and donations was used to purchase helium balloons and different treats for the athletes. Thanks to the efforts of the Pep Club, Ursuline spirit kept on "rollin'."

An important part of every liturgical function at Ursuline was that of the folk group, which was under the direction of Miss Carol Rossi. This group brought into sight the need for student participation in the Eucharist. The students displayed their musical as well as vocal talent for the listening pleasure of the congregation and also encouraged student participation. Practices were held prior to the celebration of each event in order to learn new songs and create a variety of musical arrangements. The folk group was just another example of the values of a Christian education in action.

"CHALLENGE INDIFFERENCE" MOTTO OF KEY AND K CLUBS

Adopting the Key Club international theme "Challenge Indifference", the Key and K Clubs aimed to abolish the "I don't care" attitude at school, at home and throughout the community. The two clubs, supported by the Youngstown Kiwanis, worked as a unit, taking affirmative action in the community.

Each service organization donated time, talent and money to UHS and also to various charitable organizations. Some of their projects included the Crop Walk, working with patients at Park Vista Presbyterian Home, the Catholic Exponent Drive, selling giant coloring books and collecting for the Heart and Cancer funds.

The main goal of the Key and K Clubs however, was to work with other schools to develop a more sound interclub relationship. This was achieved at the annual 21st Division Basketball Tournament. The year came to an end in April with five members attending the Ohio District 1977 Key Club convention at the State Capitol.

An alternative to traditional education was the Choffin Career Center. Ursuline students attended Choffin to develop the technical, social, economic and manipulative skills necessary for employment.

Students spent half a day at UHS and the remainder at Choffin. The Choffin half-day was further divided into one and a half hours of theory in the students' selected vocations and three hours of laboratory or shop work. When a student completed his/her program, every effort was made to aid the student in job placement or training.

Choffin offered 36 interesting and varied programs from which students could choose. They covered such areas as Agriculture, Business-Office Education and Trades and Industrial Education. Many Choffin students found their environment there a welcome change from the usual desk-book-classroom type education. The experience they gained at Choffin gave them a valuable beginning on their future careers.

CHESS TEAM

ROW 1: R. Patrick, D. Moses. ROW 2: V. Mack, J. Matvey, R. Rastuccio, E. Hamrock, W. Price.

The 1976-1977 chess team, led by senior captain Bill Price and seniors Roger Patrick, Ed Hamrock and Daryl Moses, scored the highest win-loss record of seven wins and three losses in over three years.

The chess team, who's adviser was Mr. Terrance Murphy, competed in the Steel Valley Crown Chess Tournament. Although the team failed to capture the top position in the conference, they gained invaluable thinking strategy due to the long hours of practice. The team met every week with chess match challenges being played to see who won a position on the ten board team to match their chess wits with other schools.

FNA AND FTA MEMBERS PERFORM SERVICES

FNA D. DeConcilus, K. Rainer, D. Petrony, L. Flask, J. Berroteran.

Members of FTA were kept busy with the many services they performed and activities they were involved in throughout the year. Their main source of income came from bake sales and the Raggedy Ann raffle. Some of their activities included acting as guides during conferences and purchasing floral arrangements to honor the nuns on the Feast of St. Ursula. With the coming of the holiday season came the annual Christmas party in which FTA brought refreshments, gifts and Santa Claus to youngsters at Madison School. And, FTA showed the teachers the meaning of appreciation by presenting them with flowers and a huge cake on "Teacher Appreciation Day."

Future Nurses provided its members with the opportunity to discover and explore a future career in nursing. At monthly meetings guest speakers talked about the various diseases which afflict humans today. Members were also taken on a tour of the new St. Elizabeth Medical Center where they were able to view an actual medical staff in action. As a service project, FNA members made and delivered baskets during the holidays to sick children in the hospital.

UNDERCLASSMEN

Tradition and activity were two key words for the Junior class. Not only were members kept busy with various social events, but traditional activities were also carried out.

For the final time, juniors experienced the agony of Dayton Testing and the confusion of registration. Tradition was also broken this year with the absence of Junior Ring Mass.

Along with traditional activities, their social calendar was always filled, from Varsity and Junior Square Dance to the long-awaited Prom. The next big step for Juniors was the arrival of Senior year.

SOPHOMORES SPEAK OUT . . .

No longer newcomers at Ursuline, the Sophomore class represented a united body. Having a year's experience behind them, they were ready to embark on the traditional Sophomore activities.

Although fund-raisers, such as selling stationery and bake sales, were important projects, Sophomore Week was the long awaited event. This week, interspersed with assemblies and climaxed by the class' own dance, was a time to nurture bonds between class members and build lasting friendships.

FRESHMEN FIND OUT . . .

Mr. Lowery giving a few pointers to a gym class.

Before entering Ursuline, Freshman students picked up valuable tips on teachers and courses, not to mention fourth floor swimming pools and elevator passes. But it wasn't until that very first day or so that the Freshmen actually found out.

They found out what it was like to get lost, unable to find their lockers. Many were totally confused by the word "Arts Building" on their schedules. Soon enough, though, the Freshmen were no longer newcomers, but involved in everything Ursuline had to offer.

Freshman girls got a little extra help from an upperclassman.

The best of friends.

Kelly gets ready for a day at school. But, Kelly, where is your uniform?

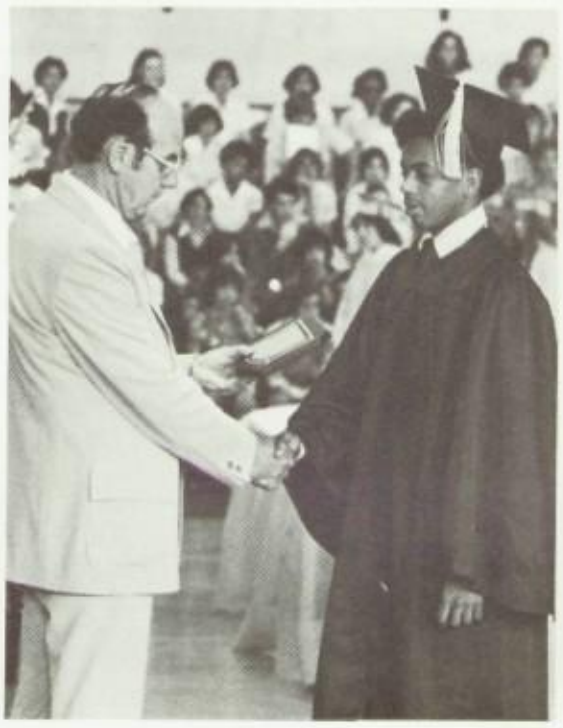
GRADUATION

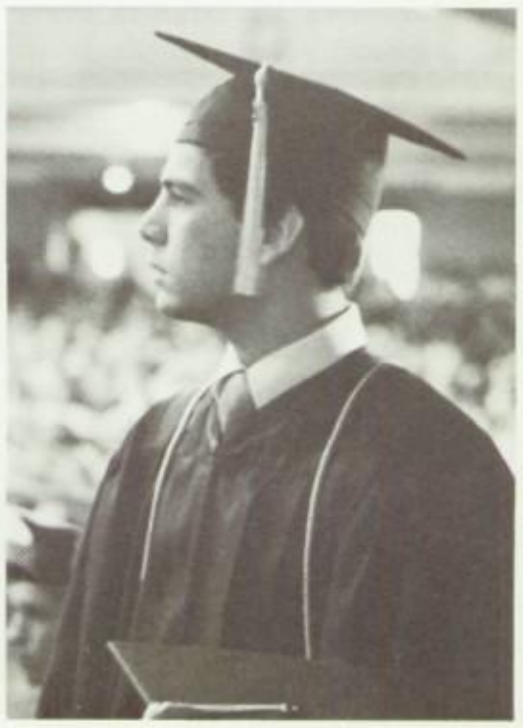
STUDENT AWARDS DAY

The Annual Awards Day assembly, held in recognition of student academic achievements took place on May 31, 1977. Members of the student body were praised for their scholastic and extra-curricular accomplishments and received certificates of recognition in the various subject areas of study. Outstanding seniors were presented awards for their academic achievements and recipients of scholarships were announced. A new tradition for Awards Day was established with the dedication of the yearbook to an outstanding faculty member. This year's recipient was Fr. William Petrunak. The assembly concluded with the singing of the Alma Mater by the Senior class.

Seniors stand to sing their class song, "The Theme from Mahogany".

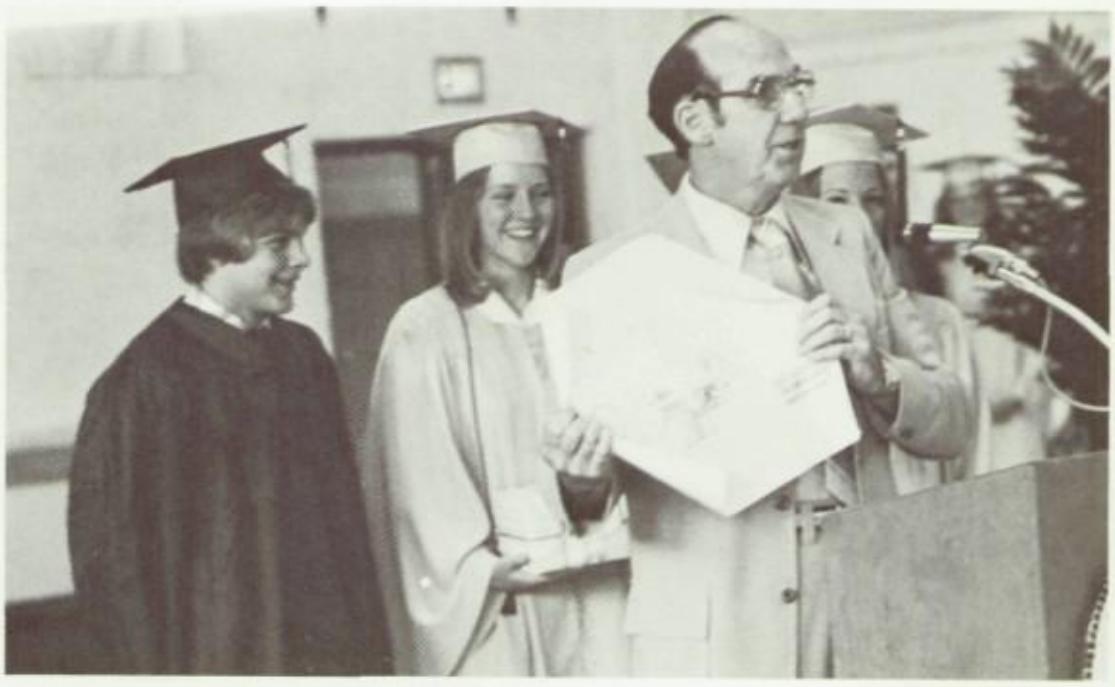


Outstanding senior, Daryl Moses, receives a Latin award.



Vince DeMichael receives a scholarship to Columbia University.

A stunned Fr. Petrunak humbly receives the dedication of the yearbook.



Mr. Carey displays the plans of the new shrine, a gift from the Senior class.

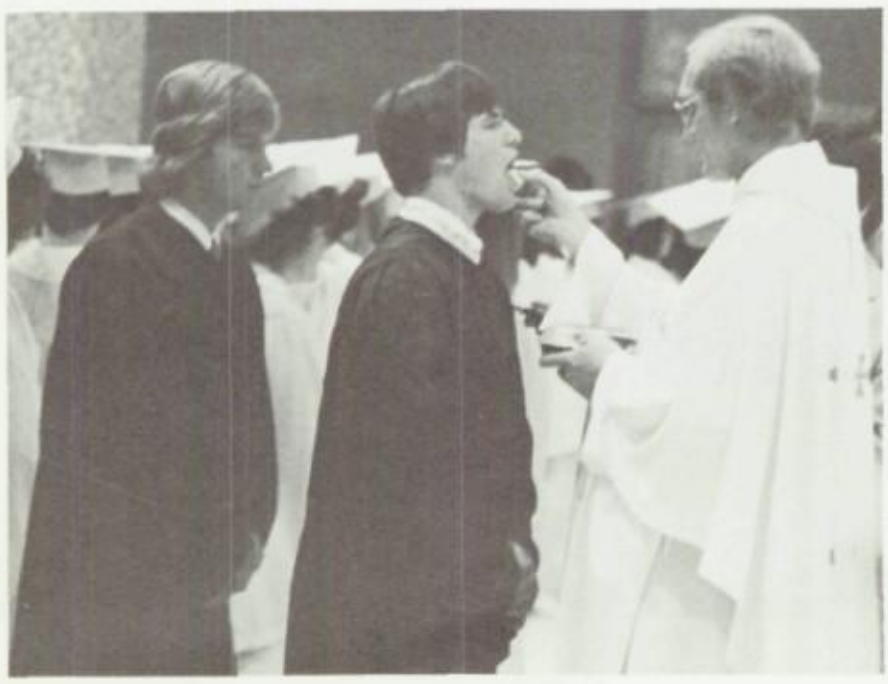
TOGETHER IN SPIRIT AT BACCALAUREATE

All listen attentively as Fr. Daprile delivers the homily.

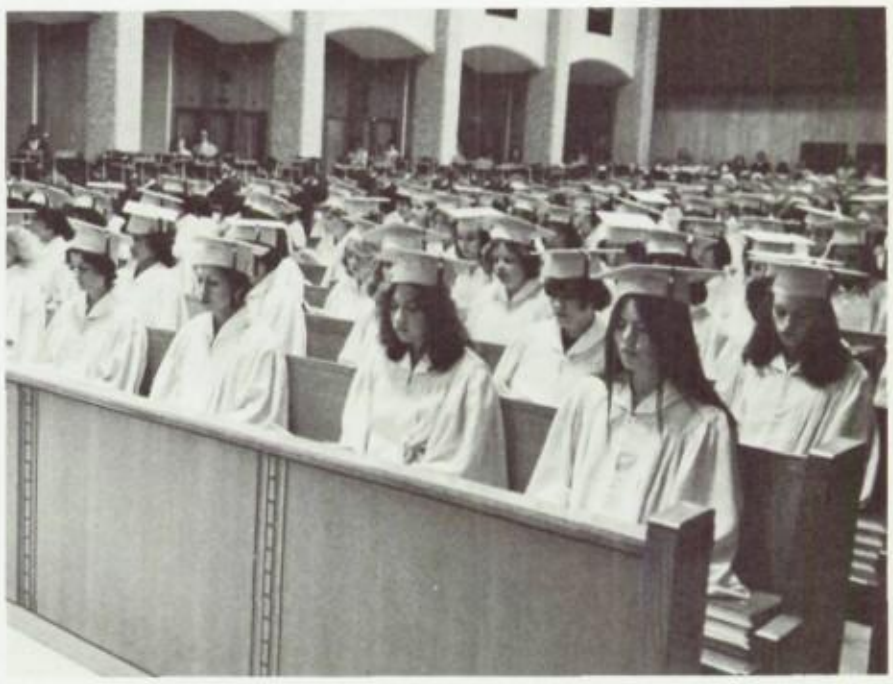
Both smiles and tears are always a part of leaving.

One of the readings is given by Patty Klempay.

Father James Daprile, an Ursuline graduate, delivered the homily at the Baccalaureate Mass for the 1977 graduating class. The mass, held in St. Columba Cathedral, was offered by Fr. William Petrunak and concelebrated by priest relatives of graduating seniors and priests on the Ursuline faculty. Members of the Senior class participated in the organization and readings of the mass. The mass had both special meaning and memories for the seniors since it gave them the opportunity to participate in their final mass as a student body. The mass was followed by a senior party in the school cafeteria and entertainment was provided by records and student talent.



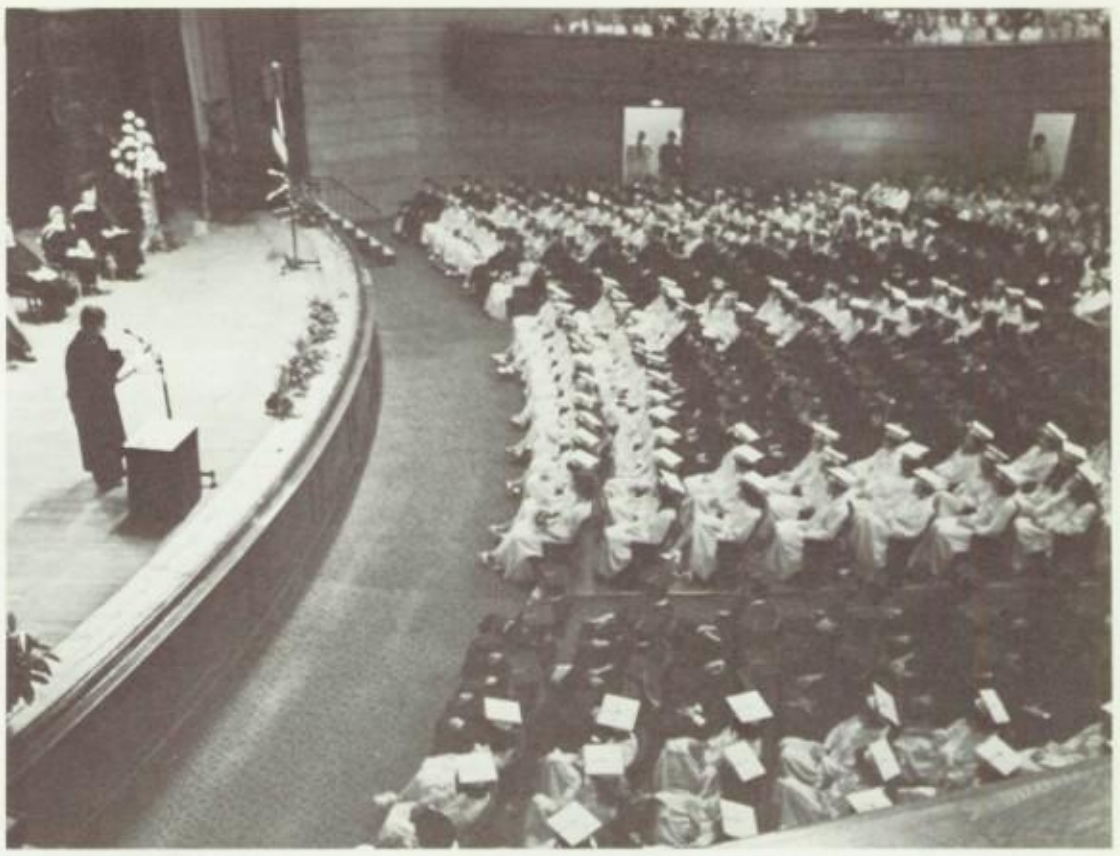
Mark receives communion from Fr. Petrunak.



The mass provided a peaceful moment to reflect on past, present and future.

GRADUATION: THE BEGINNING AND THE END

The graduation ceremony held at Stambaugh Auditorium, June 5, 1977, signaled both the beginning and the end for Ursuline's graduates. It was an end to all the homework, after school meetings, dances and sports events which had been the mainstay of their lives. At the same time, it was a beginning to the responsibilities and hard work which will soon face these young adults. Listening to the inspirational words of the guest speaker, Dr. Dean Mayors, the graduates were able to reflect on the past and yet anticipate the challenge of fulfilling their future goals in the years ahead. Congratulations and best of luck to the Class of '77.



The graduating class of 1977 listens attentively to the guest speaker.

The administration dons caps and gowns reflecting the seriousness of the occasion.

Sue Salopek leads the processional.

The proud look of Tony Donofrio expresses the joy of receiving a diploma.

The guest speaker, Dr. Dean Mayors, reflects on the responsibilities facing young graduates.
